Panduit & Atlona Selected as CBRE FUSION Strategic Supplier Supplying A/V and IT solutions to CBRE Project Managers and Tenants

TINLEY PARK, Ill. — (June 28, 2022) — Panduit and Atlona have been selected as a preferred supplier of A/V and IT infrastructure solutions for CBRE's FUSION Strategic Supplier Program, which serves CBRE project managers and commercial real estate tenants.

With greater than 10,000 professionals and 400+ LEED & WELL staff accreditations, CBRE maintains the largest network of professional commercial real estate project managers worldwide. Their unmatched geographical coverage, combined with their optimized service delivery process, enables them to plan and execute a full suite of customized project management services for both users of, and investors in, commercial real estate. Industries served include data center, healthcare, government, retail, office headquarters, K-12 education, public institutions, distribution, industrial, and much more.

In the commercial real estate business, managing the network needs of tenants is a major undertaking. Panduit eases that headache, with network infrastructure solutions that deliver consistency, reliability, and fast turn-around to meet tenant needs. Whether outfitting a multi-tenant data center, high-rise office building, or a highly automated warehouse, Panduit and Atlona's broad product portfolio ranges from cabinets and racks to A/V solutions to copper and fiber cabling and connectivity to support an always-on network. Cutting-edge, standards-compliant solutions help meet sustainability goals, are widely available, install quickly and easily, and are engineered to outlive the network.

"Panduit is excited to be part of the FUSION program," said Tom Walsh, Vice President of the Panduit Enterprise business. "We know that commercial real estate tenants and project managers value quality, reliability, and solutions that make their jobs easier, and we're confident that Panduit infrastructure satisfies those demands."

CBRE project managers and tenants will be able to leverage Panduit's relationship with Anixter, a leading global distributor of Panduit and Atlona A/V and IT products. Panduit and Atlona also partner with highly skilled installers, contractors, and system integrators who are trained and certified to design, develop, and deploy a high-performing network infrastructure that drives the future of commercial real estate.
